J.S. Brown & Co.'s Courtney Maher Named a 2026 Innovator by Kitchen & Bath Design News

COLUMBUS, Ohio — [October 14, 2026] — Courtney Maher, Director of Business Development at J.S. Brown & Co., has been named a 2026 Innovator by Kitchen & Bath Design News. Maher is one of 36 professionals recognized this year for their contributions to design and the advancement of the kitchen and bath industry.

The annual recognition considers design skills and service alongside industry leadership, support of the trades, education, and community involvement.

Maher's profile highlights her approach to residential remodeling, which combines design expertise with a background in medical device sales and training as a neuromuscular therapist. Her understanding of mobility and human function informs spaces designed to serve homeowners as their needs change.

By incorporating accessibility and long-term function from the beginning, Maher helps homeowners create beautiful spaces that support comfort and independence. Thoughtful decisions about shower seating, fixtures, doorways, and space planning anticipate changing needs while maintaining a sophisticated residential feel.

The publication also recognizes Maher's work earning multiple National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) honors, including a national Contractor of the Year award in 2022 and regional awards in 2022 and 2024.
